JACKSONVILLE, ILLINOIS, THURSDAY MORNING, SEPTEMBER 17, 1903.

PRICE THREE CENTS

STRENUOUS DAY FOR PRESIDENT

PASSED THROUGH A TERRIFIC STORM

Made Trip From Oyster Bay to New York on Naval Yacht Sylph—Immigration Station on Ellis Island Inspected.

Oyster Bay, Sept. 16.—The president left Sagamore Hill to day on a two days trip, which will include a visit of inspection to the immigrant station on Ellis Island, New York bay, and participation to-morrow in ceremonies attendant upon dedication of a monument to the memory of New Jersey soldiers, erected on the historic battlefield of Antietam. The president, accompanied by Mrs. Roosevelt, Secretary Loeb and a few invited guests, boarded the naval yacht Sylph and started for New York.

New York, Sept. 16.—President Roosevelt is resting quietly on his train to night after a day of strenuous and varied experiences. While enroute from Oyster Bay to New York on the naval yacht Sylph, he passed through a terrific wind and rain storm, during which the vessel was in imminent danger. Subsequently he visited the immigration station at Ellis Island, New York bay, and made a thorough inspection of that institution.

After dining on the Sylph to night he went on the revenue tug Chamberlain to Jersey City, where he boarded a special train which is to convey him, Governor Murphy, of New Jersey, and invited guests to the battlefield of Antietam, where will occur the dedication of the monument to the memory of New Jersey soldiers.

Shortly after 10 o'clock this morning the president boarded the Sylph in Oyster Bay. He was accompanied by Mrs. Roosevelt, their son, Kermit, and a party of friends and members of the executive staff and representatives of press associations. Less than an hour after the Sylph entered Long Island sound she ran into a terrific wind and rain storm. Off Ft. Schuyler it developed into a hurricane. The Sylph pitched heavily and off Will's Point listed very sharply to the starboard. The president and guests were forced to go below and beyond a drenching none suffered inconvenience. The storm was more severe as the vessel neared Hell Gate. Waves and wind swept the deck, making it almost impossible for the sailors to remain exposed to their force. The baggage of the party was swept about the deck and everything movable on deck had to be clewed down to prevent its being swept overboard. In Hell Gate, a quarter of a mile off port bow of the Sylph, a tug boat having in tow a three-masted schooner was capsized and sank. The president knew nothing of the capsizing of the tug boat until nearly an hour afterwards. He then expressed the wish some assistance might have been rendered the crew. Captain Brainerd said it would have been foolhardy to attempt rescue and the Sylph would be wrecked herself.

The impracticality of proceeding to Ellis Island in the face of such a storm was demonstrated to the president and the vessel proceeded to the navy yard, where Mrs. Roosevelt, Kermit, and a few others landed. The president and the remainder of the party, as soon as the storm abated, made the trip to Ellis Island, where the immigrant station was inspected. An informal reception was followed by a luncheon. Before beginning his tour of inspection the president informed Commissioner Williams it would be impossible for him to make such an inspection as he would like in the limited time at his disposal. Williams requested the president to appoint a committee in whom he would have confidence to make a complete inspection. This the president did, the committee to report personally to him. The president went directly among the immigrants themselves to ascertain personally how they were treated. The president's interest was attracted by a comely German woman named Adele Walter, from Leutendorf, who bore in a wicker basket a tiny seven months old babe. After chatting a moment with her the president slipped a bill into the hand of Jacob Rill to be given the woman for her child. She nearly fainted upon learning the gift was from the president of the United States.

A pathetic incident was that of a Russian woman who had been excluded and was being detained temporarily. She heard the president was in the room and endeavored to reach him, but was restrained and as the president passed by she cried out pitifully, "The president is here." The president inquired about the case and learned she had been detained since July 20. On that date with her husband and four children she arrived from Russia. The husband and one child were afflicted with a disease that would bar him from entrance and they escaped from the ship. The woman engaged in a profitable business in this country, instituted habeas corpus proceedings, but the case was against them. The president had the woman released and the court, after a few hours' hearing, ruled there was no cause for her detention.

FOR IMPROVEMENTS
Hamburg, Sept. 16.—The Senate to day decided to expend $2,000,000 on improvement of the Elbe channel and railroad terminals.

MEXICAN WAR VETERANS
Montgomery, Sept. 16.—The national convention of Mexican war veterans, the president had the woman released and the court, after a few hours' hearing, ruled there was no cause for her detention.

be released in accordance with the judgment of the president.

To night the presidential party started for Antietam.

PRESIDENT'S POSITION

Will Not in Any Way Use His Influence in Republican Municipal Elections.

New York, Sept. 16.—President Roosevelt's attention having been called to the letter of District Attorney Jerome Jerome addressed to a member of the Citizens' union, in which mention was made of the president's position in the coming mayoralty campaign of this city, the following authoritative statement was given out to day:

"It is authoritative stated the president's position in the mayoralty situation is as follows: The president has not interfered and will not interfere in any way, shape or manner, either for or against the nomination of any candidate for mayor. As an individual the president, of course, keenly interested in the success of any movement for good government in New York city as in any city in the land, but the president does not regard it as any part of his duty as president to use his position to influence in any way a municipal election."

CONFERS WITH PLATT.

New York, Sept. 16.—This afternoon President Roosevelt and Senator Platt had an informal conference respecting work of the approaching session of congress. Platt favors calling congress as early as Oct. 15. However, it is the present intention of the president to call the session Nov. 9. Platt's idea of financial legislation is remedial, but not radical. Some doubt is expressed as to the ability of congress to agree upon any financial measure, but Platt is inclined to the view some measure may be enacted into law.

M'KINLEY MEMORIAL

Cleveland, Ohio, Sept. 16.—Judge William R. Day, president of the National McKinley Memorial association, said to day discussing the work of the organization: "We will probably have drawings submitted by architects the world over in November and doubtless a design satisfactory for the memorial will be forthcoming. The principal fund of $50,000 for the monument proper is already collected, but we are still lacking on the $150,000 endowment fund. Contributions to this fund are unusually desired."

OPPOSE CAPITAL PRESS.

Dresden, Sept. 16.—The socialist congress to day closed a two day's discussion of the literary activity of members of the party. A motion to prohibit members of the organization from contributing to the capital press was adopted, 23 to 20. A resolution was adopted condemning the proposition that the party accept the vice presidency of the Reichstag. Socialist members of the Reichstag are instructed to employ their influence in combating militarism, naval increase and colonial expansion.

MISS BRYAN TO WED

Lincoln, Neb., Sept. 16.—A party given to night in honor of Miss Ruth Bryan, eldest daughter of Mr. and Mrs. W. J. Bryan, by members of her college fraternity, formal announcement was made of the engagement of Miss Bryan and William H. Leavitt, an artist of Newport, R. I. The wedding, it was reported, will be in October.

NEARLY BLIND.

Quincy, Sept. 16.—Judge Guy C. Scott, of Aledo, recently elected to the supreme bench to succeed Judge J. N. Carter, of Quincy, is having serious trouble with his eyes and has been undergoing treatment in Chicago and Burlington.

Six weeks ago, while riding on a train, he picked up a time table to see about making some connections he had in view. To his astonishment he found that his eyesight had suddenly become defective, making it impossible for him to read the figures.

BANK ROBBERS.

Des Moines, Sept. 16.—Robbers entered the Farmers bank at Rhodes last night by cutting a hole through the roof. They entered the vault through the top and secured $1,000 in silver they found outside the safe proper. The latter was dynamited and contents exposed, but nothing taken. It is believed the robbers were frightened away.

FAVOR CHANGE OF NAME.

Milwaukee, Sept. 16.—The Milwaukee Episcopal diocesan council to day voted out three dissenting votes, adopted a resolution favoring a change in name of the church.

FOR IMPROVEMENTS.

Hamburg, Sept. 16.—The Senate to day decided to expend $2,000,000 on improvement of the Elbe channel and railroad terminals.

MEXICAN WAR VETERANS

Montgomery, Sept. 16.—The national convention of Mexican war veterans, the president had the woman released and the court, after a few hours' hearing, ruled there was no cause for her detention.

STORMS IN THE EAST

HEAVY RAINS AND HIGH WINDS REPORTED

Great Damage to Shipping in New York Harbor—Hard on Telegraph and Electric Service in New York.

New York, Sept. 16.—The heaviest winds and highest seas known along Staten Island shores in years were experienced at noon. The entire fleet of the Staten Island Yachting club at Stapleton, consisting of eighteen boats, was wrecked. A fleet of small boats of the Ocean Yacht club was sunk or badly damaged. The large pilot boat Hermit dragged anchors off Stapleton against the dock of the Staten Island Yacht club and was wrecked. She was valued at $10,000. A big three-masted schooner and American barkentine collided off Stapleton and were swept in toward the dock, when they may go to pieces. The gale was so heavy and the sea running so high no one could venture out from shore to offer assistance. The wind blew down telegraph and electric light poles and some trolley lines were compelled to discontinue service. Along the New Jersey coast the storm was specially severe.

The gale culminated at noon in a wind velocity of fifty-four miles an hour. Then the storm subsided and by the middle of the afternoon the wind had dropped to a mere breeze. Several persons were injured by being blown off fire escapes and wagons, or by being forced against walls by the onslaught of the storm. The gale was especially severe at sea, causing havoc to shipping down the bay, where many vessels were sunk or wrecked. One man was killed at Queensboro and a woman at Carlstadt, N. J.

AT PHILADELPHIA.

Philadelphia, Sept. 16.—A severe storm from the gulf region reached the city early this morning. The rain fell in torrents, driven by a 38-mile gale. Passengers arriving from Atlantic City say the storm there was very severe. The wind unrooted in the neighborhood of fifty hotels and cottages.

Dover Breakwater, N. J., Sept. 16.—The wind to day reached a velocity of eighty miles an hour and the rain fell in torrents. The schooner Hattie A. Marsh was wrecked and the captain and four members of the crew drowned. The sea sank, but the crew was rescued. Several coal laden barges sank.

As a result of to day's storm six lives are known to have been lost and five seamen are missing and are believed to have been drowned.

THE BUBONIC PLAGUE

Manila, Sept. 16.—A hundred cases of bubonic plague are reported in Tondo, the most northern and populous district of the city. Of these eighty were of fatal termination. Twelve cases with nine deaths were also reported from Cebu, province of Visayas. Cholera is prevalent in all parts of the islands, the result of the absence of rain.

A hundred fanatics attacked the headquarters of constabulary at San Jose, province of Nova Ecija, Island of Luzon, and attempted to take the place by storm. After a lively fight the attacking party was repulsed with a loss of eight. The constabulary lost five men.

RAILWAY POSTAL CLERKS.

Washington, Sept. 16.—At to day's session of the National Association of Railway Postal Clerks the secretary reported the total amount in general fund Sept. 1, $12,832, and that there were 343 members in the beneficiary department. Delegates joined with delegates to the convention of the Railway Mail Clerks' Mutual Benefit association in a meeting in memorial of those who died during the year. This meeting was conducted by H. W. Hughes, of West Liberty, Iowa.

At to day's meeting of the benefit association the constitution was amended to require annual investment of $10,000 in government bonds.

BURNED TO A CRISP.

Aurora, S. D., Sept. 16.—The body of Mrs. Glen D. Cheatum was found in a grove north of town to day, burned to a crisp. She had poured kerosene over her clothes and set fire to them. It is presumed her mind was unbalanced over the burning of an only child a year ago.

SNOW IN COLORADO.

Eldora, Colo., Sept. 16.—It has been snowing here since Sunday night and a number of mountain trails and gulches are almost impassable. In Berthoud pass there is over two and a half feet of snow.

INDICTED MAN ARRESTED.

San Francisco, Sept. 16.—Postal inspectors have arrested a man charged with mail robbery for evidence. Post offices are closed on state lines. The man is a fugitive from justice.

FOR THE SOUTH.

Montgomery, Sept. 16.—The national convention of Mexican war veterans, the president had the woman released and the court, after a few hours' hearing, ruled there was no cause for her detention.

REPORTS OF FROST

Great Damage to the Corn Crop in Parts of the Northwest

Omaha, Sept. 16.—Frosts were general last night over Nebraska and western Iowa. Two-thirds of the counties of this state report frost, but in a large portion of them it was light.

Des Moines, Sept. 16.—The first frost in the northwestern part of the state occurred last night and the weather bureau is of the opinion frost will be general over the state to night. "All Iowa is threatened with frost," said Director Sage, of the Iowa weather and crop service. "Fully two weeks of warm weather are needed to ripen the corn crop. With such conditions staring us in the face the situation is very grave."

Kansas City, Sept. 16.—The temperature throughout Kansas and western Missouri last night was low and in many points frost was apparent. The local weather bureau reports killing frost at Dresden and Hays, Kan., with the thermometer ranging from 40 to 32.

St. Paul, Sept. 16.—The sky is overcast. No frost damage likely to night.

Omaha, Sept. 16.—No indications of frost to night. Detailed reports show last night's frost not serious over any great amount of territory.

Kansas City, Sept. 16.—Conditions to night favor frost in eastern and central Kansas. Last night's frost in Kansas visited the northern tier of counties from Concordia west, increasing in severity from east to west.

ANNIHILATED BY TURKS.

St. Joseph, Mo., Sept. 16.—No rain, no wind and clear skies are conditions of northern Missouri to night. It is believed frost has nipped vegetation badly. At late corn will be a severe sufferer.

Des Moines, Iowa, Sept. 16.—Skies are clear over most of Iowa to night. Frost expected in all but southeastern and part of eastern section. Killing frosts expected only in the northwestern quarter.

WEATHER BULLETIN.

Washington, Sept. 16.—The weather bureau to day issued the following: "Heavy frosts last night in Dakotas, Nebraska and western Minnesota. Danger of serious frost to night in Iowa, Minnesota and Illinois was lessened by indications of increasing cloudiness in these districts."

Chicago, Sept. 16.—Great damage by frost to the corn crop was feared last night throughout the western states. Dispatches received between 1 and 2 o'clock Thursday morning showed, however, killing frosts very improbable in a large portion of the corn belt.

WASHINGTON NEWS

Washington, Sept. 16.—Brigadier General Baldwin, commanding the department of Colorado, in his annual report urges the re-establishment of the army canteen under proper restrictions and says: "I have been deeply impressed by the very marked difference in discipline and general contentment among enlisted men since the abolition of the canteen feature of the post exchange. If the men are unable to get a glass of beer in a decent and orderly manner in the garrison, they will resort to vile brothels which cluster around the borders of the reservation, where they drink all manner of alcoholic beverages and often sink into debauchery and ruin."

The president has granted full and unconditional pardons to George D. and Barancus F. Cosby, convicted at Montgomery, Ala., of violating of the poonage law. June 30 last they were sentenced to a year's imprisonment and have been imprisoned since. The president's action is based on earnest recommendation of Judge Jones, who sentenced the prisoners.

The postmaster general has ordered the establishment of free delivery service at Zion City, Ill.

Acting Secretary of War Oliver to day held that under the provisions of the last river and harbor act, he is not authorized to expend more than $2,000,000 per annum for improvement of the Mississippi river. The commission had planned the expenditure of the entire appropriation of $6,000,000 under a continuing contract. There is no objection to making a contract for the entire amount authorized, but it is held the law expressly provides that not to exceed $2,000,000 may be expended in any year.

The correspondent of the Telegraph at Sofia says Bulgaria's reply to the port's protest against continual crossing of the frontier by bands and smuggling of arms and ammunition from Bulgaria was couched in the most uncompromising language, leaving no prospect whatever of an amicable arrangement.

Vienna, Sept. 16.—The Tageblatt understands the powers have decided to make a new collective representation at Sofia against Bulgaria against commencing war.

Constantinople, Sept. 16.—Official dispatches report an encounter between Turks and insurgents at Kerman, near Lake Perse. Insurgents were routed and over 100 killed and a great number wounded. In the same village insurgents set fire to Kerman. One hundred and fifty houses were burned and six women perished in the flames.

INDIANAPOLIS RISING.

Lafayette, Ind., Sept. 16.—The Mississippis rose two feet more during the night at this point. The situation is becoming alarming. The Wabash river has inundated the lower part of the city of Wabash. A number of houses have been washed away.

LaGrange, Ind., Sept. 16.—The Wabash river has inundated a number of houses, but men in the plot have been unable to find any houses.

Go see the bosses before you come out as a candidate in the Democratic party, for if you don't you may be told in the convention that you can do the party more good hoeing corn or pulling weeds; that's the experience of candidate at the last Democratic county convention.

The Courier answers the charge of basism in the Democratic ranks with its stale argument, "Your another." Of course that is all that's necessary. The question is settled as much as the body of the ostrich is protected when its head is hidden in the sand.

It is very cheap to say the Journal is shedding crocodile tears over the late Democratic nomination, but what will be the character of the tears shed by the Courier when it finds its candidate left in the race for the commissionership?

First it was "a feeble attempt at original editorials," as the Journal's remarks regarding the Democratic county convention were styled, and now this paper is charged with shedding crocodile tears over Mr. Berryman's nomination. Of course, that conclusively answers the Journal's arguments and no further comment is necessary.

It is very important in political campaigns to have machine made candidates so that they will be beholden to the powers that sway the destinies of the Democratic party. They may be honest at heart, but they can't be back on the fence that brought them out and made them what they are, and so the managers will sit back and smile serenely while the play goes on and the figures dance as the aforementioned managers pull the strings from their places of concealment.

The remark that Mr. Wiswell would be more useful to the Democratic party as a tiller of the soil, preparing materials for clothing, if he raised sheep, raised a big laugh in the Democratic county convention Monday. Strange they didn't find it out sooner; the gentleman was in office three years and not a word was said against his administration of affairs; he was regarded as all right; no charges against him, and then when he came up again as was his perfect right, he was met with the sneering remark that he could do his party more good as a tiller of the soil. Consoling, certainly to a life-long Democrat.

The unpleasant fact remains that the Democratic party is boss-ridden. It is cheap to talk about Republican dissensions, but it will be perceived that there is a growing restiveness in the Democratic ranks over the arbitrary power which has been wielded over the rank and file for several years past. Republicans may differ regarding candidates and they are not afraid to express their preferences; they meet and discuss the matter and yield to the will of the majority, and go ahead with the campaign. The Democrats came into the late county convention all fixed; there was no discussion and no place for it. One man made more motions and seconds than all the rest of the convention, the whole thing was cut and dried, and while the immediate friends and neighbors of Mr. Wiswell were wroth at the manner in which their candidate was treated it did them no good; they can take their medicine or —

JOE LEITER ARRESTED.

Bar Harbor, Me., Sept. 16.—It became known to day that Joseph Leiter was arrested here Saturday night on a civil process alleging the non-payment of bills contracted a year ago. Mr. Leiter came from New York to spend Sunday with his parents, Mr. and Mrs. L. Z. Leiter, and as soon as his presence was known George Soper, a provision dealer, sent Deputy Sheriff Sumisbury out to make the arrest. Soper alleged that a year ago when Mr. Leiter was here on his yacht he bought $50 worth of provisions and has never paid the bill. Mr. Leiter said he was greatly overcharged and that he never will pay the bill in full. He gave $100 cash, tall, and returned to New York. He will return for trial of his case in October.

THE PRINTERS' OATH.

Wheeling, W. Va., Sept. 16. After listening to the committee of the local Roman Catholic church, a clause in the oath of the International Typographical Union, which required members to be of the Roman Catholic religion, was eliminated to Roman Catholic obligations. Bishop DeGarmo said that from that interpretation it was probable that no man would venture to take up the oath.

A STORY REVIVED.

A Damage Suit for $10,000.

Brought by Rev. E. W. Rhinehart, Now of Ohio.

A sensational damage suit has been brought against the people of the Christian church at Salineville, Ohio, by the pastor, Rev. E. W. Rhinehart, and thereupon hangs a tale connected in a measure with this city. The suit of the reverend gentleman is for $10,000 for defamation of character and for his salary, the complaint being that he has been advised that his services are no longer wanted for reasons not at all creditable to him.

During the latter part of June, 1896, a man and young woman stopped at the boarding house kept by Joseph Ramsey in the house now owned and occupied by S. B. Gray on West College avenue. The man claimed they were husband and wife and as the lady was quite ill she was looked after carefully by the Ramsey family, but it soon developed that a tale hung thereby. The couple had been to Bayliss, Pike county, and the man was at the time pastor of a Christian church in Missouri, and the former home of the alleged wife was at Shelbyville, Mo. Their actions at Bayliss were suspicious and investigation by the boarding house people elicited the fact that the woman, or girl, for she was only some 18 years old, was supposed by her parents to be visiting friends in Iowa, and they had no knowledge of any marriage on her part. Her brother came on to investigate and two warrants were secured for the arrest of Rhinehart, both on serious charges of a nature damaging to the character of the woman he claimed was his wife. He insisted he was wholly innocent, but was unable to produce any documents to that effect. A Journal reporter at that time visited the Ramsey house, but the girl would have nothing to say. Matters began to look serious, so it was at last decided to have a wedding and Rhinehart was taken to the bedside of the girl where Rev. S. B. Moore, then pastor of the Christian church of this city, performed the ceremony and Rhinehart was released from custody. He afterward called at the Journal office and stated that he had agreed to the wedding ceremony here in order to satisfy the interested persons, but that he had been legally married to the girl before and had kept it a secret because he was financially unable to go to housekeeping. He assured the Journal that he would produce the documents to prove his assertion as soon as the mails could bring them, but he failed to do so, and as soon as his wife recovered they left the city and practically dropped out of sight.

It is stated that he has had trouble several times before the present one, which has caused him to bring suit and that the story of the alleged deeds, for which he was arrested here, has followed him persistently. O. C. Pinney, an attorney of Cleveland, is here taking depositions before Judge Barnes and the other side is represented by George L. Merrill. What will be the outcome is hard to tell.

JEFFRIES BAND

In New Quarters—Conservatory Hall Leased—Program of Concerts Planned.

The Conservatory building—office, study rooms and recital hall—has been leased by the Jeffries' Concert band. The band has been located on Morgan street for many years, first in the Robert Smith building, then across to the Y.M. C. A. and back to the old engine house belonging to the city, and when this building was finally leased to the Illinois Telephone company the band sought quarters in the same old neighborhood.

In leasing the Conservatory, Mr. Jeffries finds himself in possession of opportunities for pushing the band more thoroughly before the home people and proposes, first to inaugurate a series of subscription concerts of a high order during the coming winter, and may close them with a program by chorus and band. The concerts will be given by the full band, more by a vocalist and one or more instrumental soloists. It is Mr. Jeffries' intention to introduce some fine voices hitherto unheard on the concert platform, and also to bring out a number of very promising young instrumental soloists. There will be some new novelties by the band. The entire series of concerts will be given at a very moderate cost, probably ten concerts at a total cost of $1 to subscribers. Only 350 season tickets will be sold, thus making the concerts somewhat exclusive.

The Musical union will use one of the study rooms for its meetings and Conservatory hall will be for rent for recitals, light plays and lectures. Recitals are held on Monday and Thursday and musicians and interested friends are always welcome.

HIGH SCHOOL NOTES.

The annual meeting of the High School Athletic association took place Wednesday afternoon at the high school. After a regular routine business had been disposed of, the election of officers took place. Ralph Bowen was elected president and Paul Whitney, secretary-treasurer. After the meeting Captain Richards called a meeting of the foot ball squad and discussed the new signals, and the season's outlook. The squad will be out for practice to day and from now on hard work is expected of all the boys. Manager Fulwider has been corresponding with the high schools of Quincy, Peoria, Bloomington, Springfield, Decatur and others and in all probability a strong schedule will be arranged.

The two musical clubs were reorganized Wednesday afternoon. Miss Bessie Wood was elected president and manager of the Treble Clef club. New music was looked over and plans for the coming season made.

Carl Richards was elected president and manager of the Glee club. An enthusiastic meeting was held and ended by singing a few old songs.

SCHOOL FOR THE DEAF

Year Opens Auspiciously—First Chapel Service Held Wednesday—Large Enrollment.

The State School for the Deaf opened Wednesday with the attendance about the same as last year. Chapel service was held yesterday morning and Superintendent Gillett made a few brief remarks of interest to the pupils and also made the usual announcements.

Wednesday Supt. Charles P. Gillett entered upon the first year of his administration as superintendent of the institution for so many years successfully conducted by his eminent father, the late P. G. Gillett. For many years both as teacher and assistant superintendent he has been connected with the institution and is thoroughly familiar with its workings and the methods employed that has made the Jacksonville institution the greatest school for the deaf in the country.

The year's work was auspiciously begun yesterday and it is expected this will be the greatest year in the history of the institution.

A number of improvements have been in progress during the summer. Work on the annex building, for which $50,000 was appropriated, has been begun. It will include a chapel, school rooms and library, and will probably not be completed before spring. A large addition to the boiler room has been made and six immense new boilers installed. An electric motor pump has been placed in the old pump house at Ashby's pond. There are two 75 K. W. dynamos in direct connection with an idle steam engine to furnish light for the buildings and grounds. The state recently made an appropriation of $20,000 for these improvements. In the main building the heating facilities have been greatly improved and an entire new system of radiation installed. The north wing has been rewired and refloored and the reservoir has been re cemented and cleaned.

Carl Richards was elected president and manager of the Glee club. An enthusiastic meeting was held and ended by singing a few old songs.

WOMAN'S COLLEGE

Interesting Chapel Service—Largest Attendance in the History of the Institution

Again the year's work of the Woman's college has been begun and with the usual enthusiasm and encouraging circumstances. Nearly every seat in the chapel was occupied Wednesday morning and the scene was indeed inspiring. The intelligent, happy, young faces were indeed a study calculated to fill one with emotions more than pleasurable, while the great possibilities of careers of usefulness and good presented caused a feeling of no ordinary character. Surrounded by his capable faculty, President Harker occupied the chair and conducted the opening exercises, through which a devotional feeling on the part of every one was plainly manifest. The one Model held up before those young ladies is the Man of Galilee, the only safe and true guide for mankind, and the familiarity they showed with passages of the holy scripture proved that they have been taught to good advantage. After singing, led by Professor Stead, Rev. R. F. Thrapp, pastor of the Christian church, offered an earnest prayer, invoking the divine blessing on the dear young people, now on the threshold of life, preparing themselves for the great conflict which all must face. S. W. Nichols spoke and then President Harker said he took great pleasure in presenting a lady who had been taught at the college; it was a warm friend for many years, and who had been honored with the recommendation to conference for a place on the board of trustees, Mrs. E. C. Lambert.

The gifted lady was greeted with hearty applause and it would be a pleasure to report her words in full were it practicable. A short outline is offered:

"My dear young friends: I am truly glad to welcome you here to this institution and to our beautiful city and I congratulate you on your wise selection of a place of learning. Many times it seems as if Jacksonville was the center of the universe for we meet people from this place almost everywhere we go, and very often former pupils of this institution. I once was sailing on the Atlantic and while on board ship was accosted by two ladies, who had formerly been educated here, and all were still deeply interested in the place and had warm feelings toward the college. In the great establishment of Marshall Field in Chicago I met a college woman and she introduced me to four married ladies, all of whom had been students here. You have been counseled to be merry and I think you will be so, for fun and merriment will come to the surface and bubble over in such a place as this and it is not well to suppress it, only let it be kindly and not such as to interfere with your work, and it will promote your mental and moral welfare decidedly. As I regard you at the beginning of your college course or in the midst of it I am almost tempted to say I envy you the happy days in store for you. I will not say they will be your happiest nor that you are having your best time now, but you are certainly in the way to get a good start in life; nor will you find it all fun here, for there is plenty of earnest work to do and days of toil await you, if you are really to succeed. The best I can wish for you is that you may truly succeed in finding yourselves and knowing your true character and that each may look truly into her own heart, bring out all that is best in it, overcome all that has a tendency to evil and find your own beautiful womanhood. In that case the restrictions of the school will not be irksome, restraints for you will want only to do what is right and best. During the school year I hope to meet you frequently and always I trust to find you doing good work and accomplishing much that is for your greatest good in life."

The excellent advice and good words of the speaker were most cordially received by the young ladies and doubtless the seed fell on good ground.

President Harker made the several announcements due on this occasion and the young ladies were dismissed to their various duties, and thus the institution which has such a grand record, has again begun the work of a school year under flattering circumstances.

AT THE MANSION.

Mrs. Richard Yates entertained at the executive mansion Wednesday afternoon, this being her afternoon at home. The rooms, which are very charming in their new decorations, were filled with the fragrance of American Beauty roses, which were sent to the mansion. These were received in the sun parlor.

12 West Side Square

BIG NEWSPAPER BOARD.

His majesty's collection, which is just beginning at Hendon, contains 11,000 volumes in which are 100,000 newspaper files now at the British museum will eventually be deposited, says the London Chronicle. There is a single newspaper land in the museum, a land from which a file of almost any modern English paper can be taken. There gets more valuable, rare, history, and this building is necessary at Hendon for the storage of newspapers and other printed matter rarely required for use.

That is the distinction which a parliamentary statute applies to the purposes of the Hendon annex. It also requires that the "newspapers and printed matter so removed" shall be made available on due notice, being given at the museum. In other words, the newspapers at Hendon will be brought to London for reference when they are needed. Needless to say the files that are constantly being needed will not go there at all. Under the copyright act copies of newspapers and periodicals, as of books, must be sent to the British museum. The newspaper mountain which this has produced can, in the true phrase, better be imagined than described. In fact, it could not be described, because much of it is buried away in the basements of the museum. The figures as to the sets of newspapers and fortnightly and monthly publications received there are, however, sufficiently eloquent.

In 1900 the number of such sets contributed by London was 1,226; by provincial England, Wales and the Channel Islands, 1,834; by Scotland, 283, and by Ireland, 222. These figures show a total of 3,400 sets, representing 220,300 single numbers of papers and kindred publications. The number of sets in 1900 was 2,472 and the single numbers of papers 170,838, a striking increase in the ten years. However, there has been a slight drop. For 1901 the sets numbered 3,170 and the single numbers 208,582. Last year the number of sets was 2,222 comprising 109,067 single numbers. When colonial and foreign newspapers are added it will be seen what a harvest flows to the museum. Every twelve months it literally gathers into its now well filled vastness huge loads of printed paper. Yet to carefully keep are the files that they can readily be consulted, even when they are purely local papers.

HUNGRY FOR DOG MEAT.

Philippines Appeal to Authorities For the "God Given Luxury."

Broiled dog, fried dog and sundry other forms of dog are considered delicacies by the Igorrotes of the northern province of the Philippines, writes the Washington correspondent of the Chicago Chronicle.

According to advice just received at Washington Colonel E. C. Carter, Manila commissioner of public health, has received a gentle hint from Provincial Governor William G. Peck, at Baguio, Benguet, not to waste this "God given delicacy."

His appeal is couched in the following terms:

"I know that some of the departments under your charge are killing dogs and throwing them away to get rid of them. Now, my people, you know, consider dog a God given luxury."

"Will it not be possible in one way or another for you to send me 100, 200 or 500 dogs that you want to get rid of to San Fernando, where I will have Igorrotes waiting to bring them over the trail to me here in Baguio?"

"The feast subsequent to such an event would make gods and men wonder. Now, see if we cannot make such an arrangement."

It is understood the request will be cheerfully complied with by Colonel Carter. Manila is full of stray dogs, and he would give something handsome to get rid of them. The natives and Europeans there don't seem to consider them gastronomic luxuries.

The Massacre in Parker. How long, O lumbering conscience of the world, Wrap in thy dreams of empire and of gold—

How long shall this dread tale of blood be told? While all the banners of thy wrath are flying, to heaven shall the cry be hurled. Of slaughtered babes—the feelings of the fold—

With nameless shame and terror man- ifold.

And smoke of cot and temple upward curled? Has greed of gain and power thus shackled thee, Conscience of man, vain of thy free control?

And the secret of the countries star- ward flight? What shall the judgment of the Lord God be?

When he shall charge thee with thy brother's soul? Shall thou be numbered on the left or right?

Strange gray world, O world half soul, half brute.

With the prayer of salvation on the lips, World like the song of angels has been born.

Yet mute, dumb world with all the de- mons waste!

And voiceless enough when she utters the sum-

These are thy blessings, O world, that are lost, Yet, though they are now gone with thy sorrow, when all thy triumphs are but past.

When thou to many a moment's rest, That thou art made, we the human race, are given, And when the world is but a dream.

When thou art given, the world is but a dream.

A RAILWAY'S NEW MOVE.

Erie Road's Plan to Promote its Employees.

AN AGE LIMIT AGREED UPON.

Recently Engaged Clerks Who in the Age of Thirty-five Have Not Made Records in Their Work Are Requested to Resign—Action Taken to Protect Old Men.

The Erie railroad has promulgated an order calling for the resignations of clerks recently engaged who at the age of thirty-five have not advanced, says the New York American.

The resignations must be forwarded to the offices of the company within a few days, because the officials feel that there is no chance for men who at thirty-five have not demonstrated their executive ability.

The men, who are doomed to leave are those who have entered the company's employment since May 1, 1901, and in an apologetic way the officials say that there are comparatively few who will be affected. In the future, however, no man who has reached the age limit will be given employment in the clerkship grade by the big railroad.

"Men who have become thirty-five without succeeding at something else have little chance to take up railroad work," is the explanation of Secretary Granville A. Richardson.

President Underwood, however, does not put it in the same way. He says: "The road owes a duty to men in its employ for the major part of their lives. It is constantly making provision for these men. It is an injustice to them to have men who have seen their best days in other lines enter our employ. It is to protect our old employees that the order is issued. It is fair to assume that a man who has worked at some other business for the better part of his life is too well grounded to be of special value to a railroad company. The aim is to employ young men who wish to make railroading their business."

"The employment and training of railroad employees is a great problem, which can best be appreciated by those who are frequently the victims of bad judgment in railroad offices. This is what we are trying to remedy," said Secretary Richardson.

"We do not say that a man who has been in the railroad business for some years is useless at thirty-five if he has not advanced, for he has at least learned the routine. The fact that he is still in the business, however, shows that there has been some defect in the system that kept him when he was young. He should have been dropped long before."

"Railroading principles should be taught while the brain is young. The younger the better, and in the future any man who asks us for employment will have to give a very strong explanation of why he has failed in other capacities if he is anywhere near thirty-five.

"Our idea now is to get as many bright young boys as possible to go on the lowest rounds of the ladder to advance the others to the vacancies that will be made. By always having good material at the bottom it will be possible to advance the various grades as the good jobs at the top are opened, instead of going to other companies to get high salaried men while our own wonder why it happens that way."

"First, we want to protect our old men, and, secondly, make it unnecessary to go to other offices for good employees."

In view of this action of the Erie it is interesting to note the men who have accomplished things after the age of thirty-five.

Julius Caesar was thirty-nine years old before he received his first important military command.

Oliver Cromwell was a very unimportant figure until he was nearly forty, when he girded on the armor which a few years later began to identify him with England's history.

Christopher Columbus was nearly forty when he went to Ferdinand and Isabella with his plan for the discovery of new continents, and it was not until he was forty-six that he started on his voyage.

General Grant was a town character in the west until he was almost forty.

George Washington had settled back into the indolent life of a Virginia planter when at forty-two he was called upon to undertake the great work which resulted in our freedom.

Admiral Farragut was still a navy captain at fifty-four, and it was in the later years of his life that he became a distinguished admiral.

At forty Lord Nelson had done little and was involved personally and politically, yet seven years after he died on the deck of the Victory one of England's most famous men.

William the Conqueror was forty when he was crowned king of England, and he afterward earned his title Napoleon at forty and in the five subsequent years of his life was at the height of his career.

Martin Luther was thirty-eight before the world began to hear from him in a way that changed religious history.

Abraham Lincoln was forty-nine when in his discussions in his political campaign the country first started to take notice of him.

September, thou art like a lady who has reached the fulness of sweet womanhood.

Whose robes are crimson still, who, though old, are yet young.

Still has a silvery laugh, a witching air, And still is youthful, dreaming in innocence.

September, thou art like a lady who has still may charm with smile or glance.

Whose robes have the bloom of green, still is the world of a young innocence.

THE BULGARIAN CAPITAL.

So bright and bustling town that impresses travelers.

A wide, undulating valley, and far beyond, the steep incline of an endless mountain range, the Vitosha chain still snow capped when we saw it against a bright blue sky, while nearer the earth was clad with a cloak of the softest verdure, a lush green seeming to round the contours of outline here and there. Such was the "Pal" Mall Gazette, was the first impression of the panoramic setting within which we found ourselves. Sola, the Bulgarian capital, from which source many of the reports of the recent massacres in Macedonia reach the public. It is a bright and modern looking a little town, as say, Baden-Baden, and indeed more reminiscent of some small German residence than in style and structure than anything one generally associates mentally with the near east. Two days are, of course, not much in which to judge of any place. It is merely the obvious then that strikes the visitor's eye and is retained upon his mental retina, and therefore to our mind the name of Sola is lastingly associated with sundry broad and shady streets, boulevards beneath which we watched with untiring interest the constant flow of traffic, the coming and going of soldiers, moustaches, peasants and curious semi-tropical figures.

It was late spring, and the sun's heat had something of the coming summer in it, yet these stolid, slowly moving figures wore their fur caps and long skin coats, of which the sheep's wool turned inward forms the lining. Most of them led their oxen, harnessed to cumbersome carts, while again near these the smart electric trams whizzed by.

It is a strange and incongruous mixture of the east and west. The most picturesque element in the street traffic was the peasant woman, many of the girls being quite beautiful, their garments gay with red and blue embroidery and their persons loaded with barbaric looking silver ornaments, silver coins even glittering here and there amid their long, thick raven plait. Another touch of color was given to this scene by the numerous different uniforms which distinguished the military, the general appearance of which reminds one of the Russian military dress, although the men seemed of a better physique generally speaking.

The art of grading sugar has become so important that the technical schools are beginning to devote special attention to instructing students in the methods of doing it. The Massachusetts Institute of Technology, for example, has established a special sugar laboratory for training experts and where special work is conducted which often has an important bearing upon the legal controversies of conflicting sugar, glucose and starch interests.

According to the government bureau of statistics, more than 5,000,000 pounds of sugar, valued at over $100,000,000, was brought into the United States during the last year, an amount added to the domestic production that allows an apportionment of seventy-three pounds to each man, woman and child in the country.

Practically every pound of raw sugar which arrives at the important Atlantic ports of New York, Boston, Philadelphia and Baltimore must be regularly tested by expert chemists before it is turned over to the refiners, and this work is constantly growing in importance and magnitude. Except for a certain amount of "open kettle" or brown sugar from Porto Rico and Cuba and another variety that comes from Java the great bulk of the foreign product comes in bags weighing from 100 to 300 pounds apiece. Into each bag of sugar when it is landed a long tin tube called the "trier" is pushed diagonally from corner to corner and then comes out loaded with a sample. These tubes of sugar, representing a big composite sample of the whole consignment, are thoroughly mixed, and from the mixture a final sample is taken and tested, the remainder being sent to the several questions as follows:

Harvest Wheat Acreage in Kansas.

Kansas farmers are sowing 20 per cent more wheat than last fall, when the total acreage was 5,200,000, says a Topeka special to the New York Times. This year's wheat crop, as shown by the thrasher's returns, is nearly 100,000,000 bushels and will add to the farmers' surplus $30,000,000.
